Hi Amanda

I'm shocked that their license isn't going to continue. They are a great local business and lovely friendly people.

I'll add to what I've said below, that they are the only van that I know of in the area that use environmentally friendly packaging. Others use those yellow containers that simply end up in landfill.

Please give B&B a chance.

If you have not received anything from James Sunderland then I suggest you reach out to him, as he has definitely responded to my email below and says he has raised it with the council

Thanks
 Andy

Hi

I've just seen via Facebook that you are revoking the trading licence for the B&B Kebab Van. I'm flabbergasted.

This is a thriving extremely popular local business that has been in the area for years. I used to go to them when they were A&A kebabs up by Garth and that was also ridiculous that they were moved on due to some random complaint. I now frequent their B&B van.

This is arguably the best quality kebab van in Bracknell, and very much in demand. It is also a local family business. I find it very disappointing that BFBC see fit to ignore this and instead favour the massive corporations that want it gone from outside their overpriced houses - houses which have replaced a much needed youth space.

Your priorities are all wrong. You should be looking after the locals. But it seems you're just in it for seeing how much money you can grab and let the locals struggle.

This van doesn't cause a nuisance, and is not noisy. I've been there many times over the years and there is no problem. As for the smells, well there are smells all over Bracknell, and this is no worse than any others. If that is too much to ask, then please let them stay at their current temporary spot. Miles away from houses and let's face it nearer the dump, so you can't say there's an issue with smells or noise.

Please reconsider this and allow B&B kebabs to go on trading, supporting a local family business, and the many many local customers who are all struggling and would like to be able to get a cheapish treat

Thanks
